reservists to be on alert and report for duty within nine hours in the event of a call-up for service."

COMMENTS OF EALLOOO278:

DD . FORM. 1396c

- 2. (C) The alert orders were believed to have been issued because of the current crisis situation in the Middle East and not because military action in the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam had become intensified.
- 3. (C) The possibility that Soviet military authorities are pushing mobilization preparations cannot be entirely denied in view of the historical sensitivity of the USSR to events in the Middle East. This sensitivity was displayed in July 4958 when the British and Americans dispatched troops to the Middle East. At that time, TASS published a Soviet Defense Ministry communique on 17 July that military maneuvers were being conducted in the ZAKAVKAZ YE (Transcaucasia) and the Turkestan military regions; also a Bulgarian Ministry of Defense communique was published on 18 July that Bulgarian military forces were conducting maneuvers.
